Notice to Readers

The long campaign to eliminate advertising mail, so called "junk mail" has been successfully concluded. The loss of this volume of direct mail advertising has helped an astronomical rise in rates for every class of mail which can be expected to continue. We request that seasonal residents, who once enjoyed postal delivery of this paper, to pick up their copy at either drug store in Mattapoisett rather than at the Post Office. In this way we can continue to reach all residents year round.

In Rochester, extra copies of the Presto are available at the Rochester General Store.

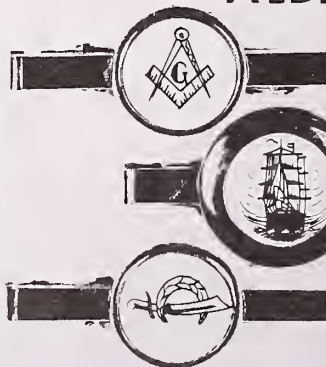

The local post office personnel are in no way to blame for this rate rise. They have always given us excellent service and continue to do so. The blame for prohibitive rates rests with those who plotted to prohibit advertising from the mail and sold the idea to the public in general.

"To borrow, and to borrow, and to borrow..."

Home improvements are among the best reasons to borrow. Adding to the value of property helps protect an important investment. So if you're thinking about repairing your roof, replacing gutters, painting, papering or adding on, see or call our nearest office. Chances are that Plymouth-Home can give you some constructive help with a low-cost home improvement loan, plus free credit life insurance up to age 65.

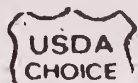

We make personal loans, at very competitive rates, for lots of good reasons. To help people like you cut down on interest costs as well as on worries. If you need money for tuition, for medical bills your health plan doesn't cover, or just to make your vacation trip a reality, visit or call our nearest office. If there's any way we can be a loan with you, we'll find it.

Plymouth-Home makes some of the best auto loans going. And our rates easily pass inspection. We give you up to 36 months to repay and free credit life insurance up to age 65. You'll also be pleased at the fast response your loan application will receive when you visit or telephone our nearest office. (Normally, we process applications in less than a day.) So for a loan geared to your needs, turn here.

liam Blasdale said that the problem is well known to the Board of Selectmen. He said that the dog officer is part time and the town has no facilities for keeping strays. Blasdale said that until such time as the town approves and finances enough money for a full time dog officer and kennel the problem will remain acute. Cameron replied that the $1200. now paid to the dog officer, at present, seems to him to be good money for doing absolutely nothing since he never seems to respond to any complaint. Blasdale said the Board of Selectmen will place an article in the next warrant to try to solve the dog problem.

"REST ROOMS FILTHY"

The custodian of the town wharf restrooms complained to the Board of Selectmen concerning the condition of these facilities. He said that human waste was in a pile on the floor, smeared on the seat of the toilet, a fire had been set in the bowl of the sink and that he flatly refused to clean this "filthy mess" in the men's room. This toilet which has previously been cleaned under agreement by the proprietors of Fish on the Wharf has been the subject of many complaints previously by the management of the fish market. The

WEDNESDAY EVENING SERIES

Two series races were scheduled at Mattapoisett Yacht Club for the final week of July.

The first on the agenda, the Wednesday Evening Series on July 28, listed Dave Jenney as the winner. This time, a light wind was the skippers' lot, 5-8 miles per hour, shifting from NE to E and increasing somewhat as the race progressed.

The fleet of Beetle Cats sailed to Ned's Point MYC Guide Buoy and finish, twice around.

Dave Jenney in Ariel, taking the lead at the outset, continued on in that position throughout the repeat type of course. Very early in the first beat to Ned's Point MYC Guide Buoy, it was evident that a hard fought contest was heading up between

The Best in Our World

Editorial D.C.J.

It's over. The great energy that strains toward perfection has subsided for another four years. Records have fallen to young athletes tuned to their peak and many have surpassed themselves through the focus of their minds. Every sport is dependent on two levels of preparation - physical and mental. Every Olympic has its surprise champions who appear unknown out of the pack propelled by their own fierce concentration. All the physical conditioning in the world cannot stand against an equally prepared athlete propelled by an indomitable will. In the Olympics, there is an unfortunate third element that has no place in the arena. The political force is the spoiler.
The petty potentates of postage stamp nations attempted to spoil the games and succeeded in ruining the chance for their own athletes to win the recognition for which they had trained so long and hard. This is a shame for these people who are so robbed of their chance to compete. Also present in the Olympics is the thinly disguised professionalism of the giant Communist countries who use this forum to pit their best paid stars against the world's best amateurs. Jesse Owens, in an ABC interview, was asked how we should react to this - if we should change our system. He emphatically replied No! Our system is the finest there is and we should change nothing he declared. As illustration, in every Olympics, our amateurs best the best "pro amateurs". The total count in medals may go to the Communist nations, but what does it matter. When our athletes win, they win double. They beat the best and they know it.

The Olympics, thanks to ABC's superb coverage, is the best excuse for owning a television set. It is the gathering of the world's cream of young people. This display of courage and dedication and individual re-

POETRY READINGS AT THE
MARION ART CENTER

On three successive Monday evenings beginning August 9th, the Marion Art Center will sponsor poetry readings. Marieve Rugo, who is coordinating the series, commented on the objective of the program. ago. Contemporary poetry uses every day language to explore every day life. It hopes to touch our common feelings, and to create universal truths out of individual experiences. So, by design, it is personal, accessible and frequently conversational in tone."

"A Palette of Poets", the first extensive series of poetry readings in the area for over a year, brings to the Art Center poets of recognized ability. On August 9th, Gary Miranda will be reading with Marieve Rugo. Miranda is a 1976 winner of the National Endowment grant. He currently teaches at the Cambridge Center for Adult Education, and is best known for his work, The Seed that Dies. Rugo has published in many literary magazines and recently organized a series of poetry readings for Harvard College.

On August 16th, Carole Oles will read with Douglas North. Oles, another 1976 winner of a National Endowment grant, was honored as last year's winner of Prairie Schooner's best-poem-of-the-year award. Worth, who teaches poetry in Newton, is author of the collection "Of Earth".

Finally, on August 23rd, Helene Davis and Ricardo da Silveira Lobo Sternberg will read their works. Davis, besides teaching poetry, has been widely published, and her book of poems Nightblind will be issued in the fall. Sternberg, currently a Junior Fellow in Writing those of us who have not developed the skill to climb that high, we may just bounce ourselves into space from the heavy duty BOUNCE-AROUND! We thank you, members of the Mattapoisett Lions Club, for giving us fun things with which to enjoy the fun time of our lives.

THANK YOU

Once again I am most grateful to the Mattapoisett Police for their prompt answer to my distress call. Thanks also to the young officer who drove the ambulance. We are indeed fortunate in this town to have such wonderful service.

Minnie D. Nye

May I take this column to express my thanks to the many neighbors and friends for all the cards, flowers, and kind deeds done to help me while in the hospital recently. Their help was deeply appreciated.

vicz, Sandy Bilodeau and Claire Keene for organizing the family picnic held on July 25th. A good time was had by all.

A THANK YOU

To the Mattapoisett Police and in particular Officers Stan Ennis and Ed Cacilhas we declare our most sincere gratitude. These men responded quickly to a recent accident at our house. Thanks to their excellent care we are now enjoying our normal life style again. Mattapoisett is indeed a great place in which to live.

A WINDFALL

John Field, former Mattapoissett Selectman, has very kindly sent us a log written by Mrs. Hamlin during and following the hurricane of 1938. Mrs. Hamlin's random thoughts and impressions bring back the immediacy and impact of this great storm that will find an echo in the memory of those local people who experienced it as she did. Mrs. Hamlin's home was the large house just north of Ned's Point Lighthouse.

East wind growing stronger all morning. After luncheon went upstairs for a nap. About 3 P.M. woke up because house shook. Looked out from upper piazza and saw a terrible sea rolling in with rising tide. Water breaking heavily over stone pier -- float pulling on chains -- it went out soon after and landed on the Warren's vegetable garden. Think it

water from Pico Beach has joined water from harbour here between us and the lighthouse.
Trees whirling in center of cauldron.

4:45 P.M. From upper piazza terrible sight. On our west side a raging sea with a roaring wind carrying breakers against Stoddard house--wonder how long it can hold out. Pray hard for tide to turn -- have no tide table so do not know when it is due to turn--horrible spectacle to see those mountains of water with angry white crests beating up all about us. Alice appears with tea and sandwiches -- very reviving to courage -- but went in next room to watch storm and later find "John Brewer" ate everything. Would have liked open fire but fear chimneys not safe. Manuel collected all the chairs from under the Cedars early in the afternoon and piled them in back yard
-- now surf breaks all over them. Waves break into shrubs around billiard room --

Too dark now to see much but waves roaring nearer and nearer. Have plenty of candles and an oil lamp. Go up to attic with Mother's glass shaded candle -- the roar terrifying up there -- wonder how roof and chimneys can stand it -- carry down a few things -- put out suitcase -- try to think of things that should be saved in case east wall of house is blown in but do not even try to fill it -- am possessed with strong feeling we will be saved -- have FAITH house will hold out. No windows gone yet -- miraculous -- wonder why billiard room and piazza are not blown off as they have no real foundations. Manuel has the McCall's suitcases here in Mrs. McCall's car--they had to leave the Nickerson house -- somehow Manuel was there to help them. Their front steps, piazzas and dining room wall all ripped off--furniture sucked out by waves. The garage fell in just as their car was taken out -- garage now blown over onto Mrs. de Koven's garden -- says trees down all along road and our driveway. Manuel worried -- there is water not so high. Town Patrol comes -- Bauer and assistant with flashlights-- surprised to find us here -- more so when he sees me eating nice cold supper on tray by candlelight. Wish I had some hot coffee for them. They say Pico and Crescent Beaches are all gone, 15 missing. Provincetown reported gone too. "BEWARE OF LOOTERS" -- Town to post guard at every wrecked house -- lucky for us that "John Brewer" is visiting us even if he is a looter himself-- he and "Kay" are fine watch dogs. Wind surely abating. Men say tidal wave -- think this must be true -- think of Lisbon, Messina and San Francisco. Two strange men appear to borrow axe to open road as in case of fire no help could reach us. Tell us bad fire in Marion.

7:40 P.M. Wish we have a dove -- it might return with a piece of seaweed. Urge dogs to be doves but they sit on their tails and look sad -- thinking of bones and balls gone to sea -- might be dove myself in a bathing suit.

BUZZARDS BAY 759-4473

9 P.M. Manuel decided to try to take suitcases down to the McCall's at her sister's on North Street. He does not return -- sorry as we want news. Patrol up and downstairs -- find only one window leaking -- really wonderful. Lighthouse blinking faithfully. Breakers each side of us still but not so vicious. Tell next Patrol we can take refugees here and at farmhouse but they say how get them here?

10:15 P.M. Wind much less -- feel sure we are saved -- so thankful. Get out history of Mattapoissett and read to Alice about famous storm of September 28, 1815. There was no lighthouse nor any summer houses on this Point but the house Miss Stackpole now lives in in the Town was lifted off its foundations then and turned around.
